FOREWORD BY WONG CHEN

My dear Subang Constituents,

Happy New Year to all! I am pleased to present our newsletter for the final six months of 2025.

Allow me to begin this foreword by sharing my political reflections and resolution as we enter 2026.

In recent months, much has been said about the need to revive reforms, particularly after the sobering outcome faced by Pakatan Harapan parties in the recent Sabah elections. Truthfully, the reform agenda seemed to have lost its way in the past three years. Arguably, there have been some reforms though far and few, and upon closer examination, these reforms tended to be cosmetic rather than comprehensive.

This year's overriding political concern should be simple; reform or die at the upcoming polls.

The mission itself has not changed, but people have. Our task remains to curb and ultimately eliminate systemic corruption by passing meaningful, far-reaching reforms this year, and ensuring its implementation next year. Should we fail, we risk squandering the hard-won momentum of an entire generation, a movement that began with the Reformasi street protests in 1998.

The irony is not lost and the disillusionment is palpable. Malaysians must learn to remember, to remain steadfast in principle, and not have selective political amnesia for the sake of expediency.

I probably have another one and a half years left to serve you as the Member of Parliament for Subang. Elections must be held before December 2027, although this could be legally delayed for another six months into 2028. Either way, the clock is ticking.

For that reason, I am resolute in dedicating 2026 to pursuing reforms, with or without the backing of those in power. That is the essence of my new year's resolution to you, my constituents of Subang.

On the community side, my office and I remain committed to serving all constituents of Subang judiciously. We have not deviated from our perennial budget pattern with a primary focus on social, welfare and local association funding.

In 2025, our office completed all of our Projek Mesra Rakyat (PMR) which provided a funding of RM30,000 each to 52 schools, totalling RM1.56 million. We also channelled funds to various public institutions across the constituency for essential infrastructure repairs, maintenance and upgrades. Further details of these projects are contained within this newsletter.

FOREWORD BY WONG CHEN

Over the past six months, my office successfully organised a series of community programs aimed at fostering health, awareness and education among our constituents. These included two Karnival Kesihatan at Pangsapuri Angsana USJ 1 and Pangsapuri Enggang, alongside several festivity-based welfare initiatives for Hari Raya Aidiladha, the Mooncake Festival and Deepavali, all designed to support underprivileged communities while honoring the spirit of each celebration. We also partnered with SK Subang Jaya & SMK USJ 8 for the STI MADANI MOSTI programs, highlighting the importance of integrating science and technology into our daily lives.

We also have the construction of Klinik Kesihatan USJ 1 to look forward to. My office will continue to monitor its progress closely and provide periodic updates as the project advances. Additionally, I am pleased to share that my office will intensify efforts to ensure the establishment of another Klinik Kesihatan in Kinrara, as announced in this year's national budget.

In parallel, I will continue my diplomatic engagements as part of my duty to contribute meaningfully to Malaysia's role on the international stage. These engagements are not about prestige, but about building practical cooperation, fostering goodwill and ensuring that both my constituency and country benefit from constructive relationships abroad.

As with every edition of this newsletter, we continue our practice of full transparency by disclosing details of our parliamentary office budget for public review.

Finally, I extend my sincere appreciation to my officers, volunteers and interns for their dedication, professionalism and tireless service to the people of Subang. Their commitment enables our office to continue delivering meaningful work on your behalf.

Wishing success, prosperity and peace to Malaysia.

Happy New Year to all!

Yours sincerely,

Wong Chen

COMMUNITY & WELFARE UPDATES

Aside from his legislative and diplomatic duties in Parliament, YB Wong Chen and his office engages with the constituency of Subang through a variety of programs and forms of assistance. These include providing financial assistance to individuals in need and allocating funding to numerous associations and institutions within the constituency. Additionally, YB Wong Chen attends and supports community events, with Poh Toh celebrations and football matches with residents being particularly memorable.

A key community highlight in the second half of 2025 was Karnival Kesihatan Parlimen Subang, which provided free health screenings for residents. This was conducted in two locations: Pangsapuri Angsana in USJ 1 and Pangsapuri Enggang in Bandar Kinrara.

Another particularly active community initiative was Projek Mesra Rakyat, which allocates annual funding to various institutions to support construction, maintenance and refurbishing works.

PROGRAM SUMBANGAN SEMPENA HARI RAYA AIDILADHA

For 2025, YB Wong Chen's office conducted programs in conjunction with Hari Raya Aidiladha which fell on 7 June 2025.

For the whole month of May 2025, the officers were preparing for the donation program, engaging with the mosques and surau within the Subang constituency to promote this program as well as encourage their participation.

A total of RM72, 900 was allocated for 2025 Hari Raya Aidiladha celebration.

Out of the 12 mosques and 50 surau within the constituency of which the office has records, majority of the mosques and surau participated in this program.

On Hari Raya Aidiladha, the officers visited several mosques to celebrate the auspicious event together with the constituents.

The program concluded successfully, benefitting families in need and strengthening the spirit of community and solidarity.

PROGRAM SAMBUTAN PERAYAAN POH TOH

The Hungry Ghost Festival, which is also known as Poh Toh or Zhong Yuan Festival, started on 23rd August and ended on 21st September for the year 2025. It is an important event for the Chinese community.

This year, as usual, the Poh Toh associations in the constituency organized prayers, charity auctions and post-prayer dinner events.

The prayers included ancestral worship, burning of joss papers, incense and candles, along with food offerings for the spirits. These actions were meant to appease and seek protection from the spirits.

Within the Subang constituency, there are a total of 19 Poh Toh associations (as of year 2025) based in Kinrara and Subang Jaya.

The associations had started planning for the Poh Toh events since the beginning of year 2025, as organizing the event takes a lot of logistical efforts. While some of the associations organized both prayers and dinner events, several associations only had prayers without dinner events.

This year, YB Wong Chen's office attended 13 Poh Toh dinners. At each dinner events, there were charity auctions aimed to raise funds for the underprivileged. YB Wong Chen's office gave fundings to all Poh Toh associations to support their kind initiatives.

PROGRAM SAMBUTAN PERAYAAN POH TOH

YB Wong Chen brought his friends from a few embassies to participate in one of the prayers organized by Lin Fatt Gong Temple.

Mr Leong and the other officers also attended the dinner events hosted by other Poh Toh associations.

KARNIVAL KESIHATAN PANGSAPURI ANGSANA USJ 11

Receiving positive response from the first Karnival Kesihatan held in Kampung Lembah Kinrara prompted YB Wong Chen's office to bring the health carnival to a new location, catering to more communities who could benefit from this initiative. The second Karnival Kesihatan took place at Pangsapuri Angsana where almost 300 residents participated in the free health screenings and other activities.

Improving from the first Karnival Kesihatan, YB Wong Chen's office invited several government agencies to collaborate with the office. These agencies were Jabatan Khidmat Masyarakat Cawangan Subang Jaya, eKasih under Implementation Coordination Unit from Prime Minister's Department, Pertubuhan Keselamatan Sosial (PERKESO) Cawangan Petaling Jaya, and Employees' Provident Fund (EPF).

These agencies were invited to collaborate with YB Wong Chen's office to provide the community at Pangsapuri Angsana advisory services as well as on-site registration for programs under their respective portfolios, enabling residents access to welfare and social aid, employment support, and other community-focused services in one convenient location. We also reached out to Jabatan Penerangan Daerah Petaling to help us promote the carnival to the community at Pangsapuri Angsana.

KARNIVAL KESIHATAN PANGSAPURI ANGSANA USJ 11

The free health screening was the main attraction. This time, YB Wong Chen's office worked with Klinik Kesihatan Kelana Jaya who sent two dedicated teams to provide the health screenings to the community.

Beyond the agency booths and health screenings, YB Wong Chen's office also provided a free batik painting workshop for the children as well as lucky draw activities to attract more participation from the community at Pangsgupri Angsana.

The community leaders at Pangsgupri Angsana were very welcoming, committed, and gave their full cooperation in making this program a success.

The success of this program encouraged another round of Karnival Kesihatan on Kinrara side.

KARNIVAL KESIHATAN PANGSAPURI ENGGANG

Our final Karnival Kesihatan of 2025 concluded at Pangsapuri Enggang, Bandar Kinrara, benefiting residents across all six blocks.

We collaborated with Klinik Kesihatan Puchong Batu 14 to provide free health screenings for residents, including dental check-ups, blood sugar tests, blood pressure checks, cholesterol tests, and BMI assessments. Measles and Rubella vaccinations were also available for children.

The National Cancer Society of Malaysia (NCSM) was also present to provide residents with free Immunochemical Faecal Occult Blood Test (IFOBT) for Colorectal Cancer (CRC) Screening.

As usual, we collaborated with various government agencies to provide residents with advisory services and on-site registration for their respective programmes.

Government agencies that participated were:

- Jabatan Khidmat Masyarakat Cawangan Subang Jaya,
- eKasih under the Implementation Coordination Unit from the Prime Minister's Department,
- Pertubuhan Keselamatan Sosial (PERKESO) Cawangan Petaling Jaya.

The Joint-Management Body of Pangsgupuri Enggang also helped to arrange the logistics and venue booking. The residents were very helpful and passionate in organising the event.

KARNIVAL KESIHATAN PANGSAPURI ENGGANG

The event saw a great turnout, with nearly 200 residents participating in the health screenings and vaccination programme. The residents were appreciative of the services provided. Additionally, YB Wong Chen's office gave out food baskets for 60 underprivileged families across 6 resident blocks.

Residents have conveyed that accessing Klinik Kesihatan Batu 14 is difficult due to the lack of transportation. In early 2025, YB Wong Chen proposed to the Minister of Economy that the establishment of an additional Klinik Kesihatan in the Kinrara area be incorporated into the Thirteenth Malaysia Plan (RMK-13) to cater to the area's growing population.

In October 2025, we received an update from the Ministry of Finance under Budget 2026 indicating that a Klinik Kesihatan Jenis 2 is currently under consideration for development in Bandar Kinrara. YB Wong Chen will raise this matter through a Kamar Khas during the upcoming 2026 Parliamentary sitting to follow up on its progress.

DEEPAVALI VOUCHER DISTRIBUTION

For Deepavali, our office collaborated with the ADUN offices of Kinrara and Subang Jaya, as well as various temples and local associations, to provide welfare assistance in the form of grocery cash vouchers to eligible residents within our constituency.

To maximise outreach to as many underprivileged individuals and families as possible, we worked closely with the two ADUN offices, which helped us identify constituents who had not yet received their festive vouchers. Simultaneously, several temples and associations shared their own lists of Indian families and individuals residing in our constituency, further enabling us to reach those in need.

After several weeks of applicant verification and cross-checking between various name lists, our office finally commenced the Deepavali voucher distribution programme on the Deepavali weekend.

In total, over 400 constituents were approved to receive grocery cash vouchers, amounting to an approximate RM75,000 worth of vouchers.

PROGRAM STI MADANI MOSTI

In the second half of 2025, the Ministry of Science, Technology & Innovation (MOSTI) announced the launching of its new STI MADANI Program.

Aimed at addressing the notable decline in students' interest and enrolment in STEM courses in the country, this federal initiative allocated RM10,000 to every Parliament constituency office, tasking every Member of Parliament to facilitate a local program that would cultivate engagement, awareness and interests in the elements of Science, Technology & Innovation (STI) in the constituency.

With the RM10,000 allocation from the Ministry as well as a collaboration with SpaceQuest Asia, our office organized STEM workshops for two selected schools in Subang to provide students with innovative STEM programs in Robotics and Cybersecurity, fields they may not typically have the opportunity to explore or access.

The two selected schools were SK Subang Jaya and SMK USJ 8, targeting students of various age groups.

The full day program was split into two halves where students would alternate between robotics and cybersecurity workshops throughout the day. The programs ended with a robotics competition between students to see whose vehicle modifications proved more effective!

PROJEK MESRA RAKYAT PARLIMEN SUBANG

Projek Mesra Rakyat (PMR) is a programme under which an allocation of RM2 million is provided by the Prime Minister's Office to offices of the Members of Parliament to implement infrastructure projects aimed at upgrading and maintaining facilities for the benefit of local constituents.

Since 2023, YB Wong Chen's office has allocated RM30,000 to each government school in the constituency to support the upgrading and maintenance of school facilities. This year, 52 government schools received the allocation and carried out necessary maintenance works to create a more conducive learning environment.

Examples of PMR-funded upgrades include repainting school buildings, replacing covered corridors and windows, and improving drainage systems. More "before and after" updates of these projects are posted on YB Wong Chen's Facebook page.

Besides government schools, YB Wong Chen is also keen on ensuring both the police IPD's and Balai Bomba's have a well-maintained environment to better serve the constituents. .

Through PMR, YB Wong Chen has allocated RM 50,000 to each of the District Police Headquarters, and Fire And Rescue Stations of both Subang Jaya and Kinrara, totalling RM200,000 to carry out the necessary maintenance works and upgrades.

Each year, YB Wong Chen is also committed to allocating funds to several low-cost flats to repair and upgrade their facilities. This is to ensure that the residents have better living conditions.

This year, 6 low-cost flats from both Kinrara and Subang Jaya were chosen for the PMR 2025 project.

Kinrara area:

- Pangsubri Enggang
- Pangsubri Kinrara Taman Kinrara 4
- Pangsubri Melur Taman Bukit Kinrara

Subang Jaya Area:

- Pangsubri Angsana USJ 1
- Pangsubri SS13
- Pangsubri PJS 7

The proposed upgrades for each low-cost flats vary. Community leaders consult fellow residents to analyse urgent infrastructure upgrades. Subsequently, these upgrades are communicated to our office.

Some examples of the upgrades included resurfacing the parking lot, rebuilding the badminton court, repairing the leaking rooftop, and also expanding the drainage system.

While parts of the projects were completed, several remaining projects are estimated to be completed in early 2026 due to extreme weather conditions. Our office will share the before and after pictures after all the projects are completed on YB Wong Chen's Facebook page.

Iskandar

Working in Parliament was intense, unpredictable, and often high stakes. From drafting speeches and policy briefs, to chasing down other MPs and Ministers for their time. There were moments of satisfaction when our issues made headlines, and other moments of quiet disappointment, but all of it carried a valuable lesson in the moment. It has been an honour to help write speeches for my boss that are now forever in the Parliament Hansard.

Outside the shiny corridors of Parliament, the community is where the reality is. Nothing can replace face to face moments like welfare visits to low-cost flats, listening to families share their struggles, or just having a nice evening tea with the uncles and aunties at SS15. One personal highlight for me was witnessing the long awaited construction of Klinik Kesihatan USJ 1 begin. Something that residents had asked about for years.

I was first introduced to the struggles of this project when I was an intern, and I'm glad to see that it's finally becoming a reality after years of sending letters and inquiries in Parliament. It reminded me that persistence in service does pay off, even if it takes time.

Over the past two years, I've worked alongside many different pairings of officers. Some have come and gone, and some have become friends. One of the most rewarding parts of this job has been overseeing interns. Some even older or more experienced than me. It's been humbling and inspiring to watch them grow, whether they're now in their final year of university or just starting their careers.

To the person I call "boss"—
Thank you for taking a leap of faith with me some three years ago. From my first steps as an unsure and curious intern in 2021, to being part of the campaign team during the 15th General Election, and eventually serving full time as an officer. I've learned and grown more than I ever imagined. Thank you for trusting me, challenging me, and allowing me to find my voice in public service. I'll carry these lessons wherever I go, and will forever stick to the principle of serving without fear or favour.

I spent almost two months interning at YB Wong Chen's office, which was an eye-opening chance to finally engage with Southeast Asian politics as a German International Studies student focused on East Asia. Experiencing Malaysia's political environment firsthand helped me move beyond a Western academic lens and understand governance here more deeply. In the office, I worked on policy research, observed constituency matters, and learned a lot from the diverse perspectives of the other interns. Experiencing Malaysia's culture also added a meaningful personal dimension to everything I learned. I am very grateful to YB and the whole team for welcoming and supporting me.

Hu Yue

Interning at YB Wong Chen's parliamentary office gave me meaningful insight into how policymaking and constituency work come together, including the chance to witness Parliament in session and observe national issues being debated. Engaging in welfare cases and community visits, alongside working with YB and his dedicated team, taught me the importance of empathy, patience, and integrity in public service. This experience deepened my understanding of governance and inspired me to contribute to society in meaningful ways, for which I'm truly grateful to YB Wong Chen and the P104 team.

Auni

Having explored the political landscape of Europe while studying in France, I realised the importance of being aware of my own origins. From casual Q&A sessions with YB Wong Chen to site visits with the officers, this internship has allowed me to understand the societal foundations of the Malaysian political environment. I highly recommend this program to anyone who's in the same position as me, trying to discover the Malaysian political system from the grassroots up.

Jacob

My 10 weeks at P104 highlighted the perseverance and passion needed to balance both constituency work and parliamentary affairs in a demanding new environment. The guidance of YB and the dedicated officers and staff made my first foray into public service deeply meaningful, reminding me of the many diligent but uncredited individuals behind public policy. I will look back on this hands-on, transformative experience fondly, carrying with me the office's core values of integrity and compassion.

Natalie

My three months at YB Wong Chen's parliamentary office were transformative, showing me how research, legislation, and constituency work intersect in real life. From contributing to policy briefs to engaging in grassroots casework, I saw how national decisions resonate in the daily lives of constituents. Witnessing YB Wong Chen's commitment to transparency and public service reshaped my understanding of leadership and affirmed that meaningful change must be grounded in empathy and accountability. Thank you P104!

Jadyn

Interning under YB Wong Chen has been an invaluable experience that has broadened my understanding of how politics and economics intersect. From deep-diving into research projects to getting involved in grassroots social work, I was exposed to a wide range of tasks that have helped me grow both personally and professionally. As an Economics undergraduate, seeing how economic theories are translated into actionable economic policy gave me a clearer sense of the challenges inherent in the process. This internship was overall an experience I will not forget!

Khayra

As an international student, I have often felt detached from developments back home in Malaysia. From insightful experiences in Parliament to engaging with constituents, this internship has helped me reconnect with and deepen my understanding of Malaysian politics. YB Wong Chen's leadership demonstrates what it means to serve with thoughtfulness, integrity, and dedication to the public good, and I would highly encourage others to apply for this internship!

Vi Vien

Interning at YB Wong Chen's office has been one of my most meaningful experiences — I went in wanting to understand how an MP's office works, but I left with real exposure to policy research, community work, and the realities of public service. The team was incredibly warm and supportive, always taking the time to guide me and explain the purpose behind every task. Seeing YB Wong Chen's dedication up close reminded me why public service matters. I'm truly grateful for the trust, guidance, and opportunity to learn from such an inspiring team.

Sarah

The guidance of YB Wong Chen is what I appreciated the most about this internship as he cares not just about his work but about how we as interns learn and grow. Working in Parliament and having the opportunity to sit in high-level meetings reminded me of how big our world is at every moment, while engaging in welfare work gave me a clearer picture of the struggles that many families face every day. I would like to thank the officers for creating such a kind environment (especially Yan Ying for being my hiring officer!) and I am grateful for this internship strengthening my belief in the kind of work I hope to do in the future.

Justin

This internship gave me invaluable hands-on experience, from interviewing constituents and visiting Parliament for the first time to participating in community aid initiatives and key meetings. I also had the rare opportunity to meet MPs, Ministers, and even the Prime Minister, gaining firsthand insight into how policies are debated and shaped. None of this would have been possible without the support of YB Wong Chen and his team, who taught me the importance of patience, teamwork, and public service. Through this journey, I learned that serving the public ultimately begins with listening, understanding, and making a meaningful impact.

Le Yang

It was incredible to witness how theories are put into practice, and how concepts are (or should be) reflected in policies. Grand concepts like democracy, policymaking, rights, equality, seem to be more vivid and true than merely words on papers. Besides that, the office was not just a workplace, but a space where we bonded, questioned, learned, tried, and grew together, with the support of officers and our boss who are like our mentors and strongest safety net. I am deeply grateful for everything and hope to carry forward the lessons ahead!

Yoong Keen

It has been a great honor to intern at the Subang Parliamentary Office. Over the past 2 months, I gained valuable insights into Malaysian politics through drafting parliamentary questions and engaging with constituents. Participating in site surveys and preparing support letters deepened my understanding of grassroot affairs. I also appreciated the many insightful discussions on political and socioeconomic issues. These experiences have profoundly shaped my perspective and broadened my worldview. I am deeply grateful to YB Wong Chen and the P104 family for their mentorship and support. I will always cherish the summer I spent with the Subang Parliamentary Office.

Jun Xi

From researching the US-Malaysia trade deal to participating in Animal Farm discussions, my six months at YB Wong Chen's office have allowed me to deepen my understanding of Malaysian politics. What stood out to me the most was the dichotomy between the duties of policymakers to both pass legislation and to be on-the-ground. I am very grateful for the dynamic and supportive environment that YB Wong Chen and his team have created and would highly recommend this internship to anyone regardless of their background!

Zachary

Prior to this experience, I had a limited grasp on how Malaysia's government and parliamentary system functioned in practice. My time there provided my first exposure to the professional working environment, allowing me to observe leadership, policy research, and decision making first-hand. This experience has equipped me with skills that I will carry into further education and beyond. Although my time was brief, I am truly grateful for the guidance and support I received and I will continue broadening my understanding of governance and public policy.
